John Paul II Institute

A post-graduate unit for credit or audit

Dr Adam Cooper and Dr Conor Sweeney

This subject studies St. John Paul II's The Theology of the Body through a reading of the text and a discussion of his use of scripture, theology, and philosophy. It shows how the interpersonal communion of man and woman, precisely in the body, images divine Trinitarian Communion. It also discusses the relevance of the Theology of the Body for those called to the vocation of celibacy. Finally, it will provide the student with vital content to engage in the mission of the new evangelisation.
